SEALED PROPOSALS.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA,

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT,

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 4, 1905.

SEALED proposals will be received by the State Highway Department of Pennsylvania, under the Act approved May 1st, 1905, for the construction of 1,500 feet of road, extending from the western line of Emporium at the County Bridge over Drittwood Creek to a point on the road to Beechwood in Shippen township in the county of Cameron. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the county commissioners, Emporium, Pa., and at the office of the State Highway Department, Harrisburg, Pa. Bidding blanks will be furnished by the State Highway Department upon request. Bids must be endorsed "PROPOSALS FOR RECONSTRUCTION OF ROAD IN SHIPPEN TOWNSHIP, CAMERON COUNTY," and received at the office of the State Highway Department not later than September 2nd, 1905.

JOSEPH W. HUNTER,
n25-4. State Highway Commissioner.

CHARTER NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, the nineteenth day of September, A.D., 1905, by Joseph Kaye, George J. Labar, George P. Jones, Henry Auchu, Josiah Howard, A. C. Blum and E. W. Gaskill under the Act of Assembly, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29th, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation to be called PARK CHEMICAL COMPANY, the character and object of which is for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of chemicals, selling the products so manufactured by it, and utilizing and selling the by-products resulting from such manufacture and for these purposes to have, possess and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of said Act of Assembly and supplements thereto.

Interesting Paragraphs from Our Exchanges.

Pennsylvania's peach crop this year is estimated at over one hundred thousand bushels, it is said. Centre county will furnish from seven to eight thousand bushels according to estimates.

The Altoona police arrested a beggar in the streets the other day and investigation brought out the fact that the man had a $60,000 bank account and a handsome home in Pittston which he had acquired through begging.

At Solomon, Kan., a farm of 160 acres is operated entirely by five women—a mother and four grown daughters—and a boy of 12 years. Each of the women has her own department. The labor is distributed equally among them.

A Philadelphia paper has gathered statistics which show that women's chances to marry between the ages of 25 and 30 are only 18 per cent. while between 20 the 25 the chances in her favor are 52 per cent. Apparently it is rather dangerous to say no to the first man.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has issued orders that rural mail carriers shall paint all boxes along their routes. The paint will be supplied by the government and the carriers will be allowed twenty-five cents per box for their work. All right, but don't paint 'em red.

It has always been known that sheep injured or killed by dogs are paid for by the county, but that the law also applies to cows, horses; pigs, etc., is not so generally known, and yet the State Legislature recenty passed a law which clearly provides that any such damage may be recovered through the County Commissioners in the same manner as sheep damages are recovered.

After reading the criticisms of the Bradford newspapers of the late firemen's tournament held in that city, the average citizen will be left to wonder whether such gatherings are not a positive detriment in the long run to any community. It is a disgusting and sickening tale that the Bradford papers tell of so-called respectable married and unmarried women consorting with drunken strangers, and conducting themselves in a most disgraceful manner.—Smethport Democrat.

The story of the action of Postmaster Bowan, of Berwick, in sending to President Roosevelt for 2 cents due on a letter, has been copied until it has crossed the sea and its being read in the papers the world over. Ernest Orner, proprietor of the Jigger photo graph gallery at Berwick, received a clippling from the Evening News of Portsmouth, England, containing the account. The clipping was sent by his father. The paper held up the action as an example of American law and that in obeying the law and postal regulations the President is on the level with the humblest of citizens.—Exchange.

Miss Roselle Knott, who is starring this season in Kane, Shipman and Colvin's grand production "When Knighthood Was in Flower," has probably received as many laudatory comments as any living actress. More especially as "Mary Tudor" in her present play has her work been favorably criticized. The following expression from one of the best critics of the day, and a severe one, seems to best set forth the opinion of theatre goers in general: "The play 'When Knighthood Was in Flower' affords many theatrical opportunities, and these Miss Knott adroitly uses. Her embodiment of Mary Tudor crystalizes into one engaging personality the attributes of authority, impetuosity, intrepidity, force of will, gleeful caprice alternating with tenderness, and ardent passion tempered with both sweetness and mirth. She presents a woman who loves, and who, amid enemies and perils, has the courage of her love it seems probable that her impersonation shows her personal ideal of womanhood and is but little, if any, removed from a revelation of her actual self. It certainly is an interesting and winning image of feminine variety, integrity, romantic ardor and fenine charm." At opera house, Aug. 30th. Performance commences at 8 oclock, sharp.

Big Circus Coming.

The small boy and his sister have long been looking forward to Saturday, August 26. Yes, and the older folks, too, doubtless, have the day marked on the calendar, for isn't the great Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' combined railroad shows scheduled to exhibit in Emporium on that date? The circus will come here on its own specially constructed cars, of which there will be two long trains. The advent of the circus will recall in mature minds the days of early youth. In retrospection we can see ourselves as little children getting up long before daylight to watch the circus come to town. And we shall always vividly remember the delightful impression the first circus made on us. It may have been a very small and unpretentions affair,—even insignificent, when compared with the Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' circus—but it will always linger in the memory.

Circus day is distinctively an American holiday. And, excepting Christmas, it is about the most enjoyable holiday in all the year, Everybody, age notwithstanding, is young on circus day and we will be glad to welcome the circus here. Every sign seems to indicate that these all new and enormous shows will be given a royal welcome in this town.

The first important event of circus day will be the gorgeous gigantic free street parade which will leave the show grounds promptly at 10 a. m, and traverse the principle thoroughfares of Emporium. This pageant is said to be second to none and is worth traveling many miles to witness. It will be replete and resplendent with a profusion of such features as are customarily found in a large and well-regulated circus parade. Don't miss the mammoth free street display. The famous Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' circus will be in Johnsonburg, Monday, August 28.

Stole Woodman's Shoes.

A man giving his name as Edward Kelly was arrested on Monday by Chief of Police Frank Mundy charged with stealing a pair of "woodsmen's" shoes from Joseph Luther who he had been in company with that day.

The facts are as follows: Kelly and Luther had been together during the day and had drank considerable, but had became separated. Luther purchased a pair of Woodsmen "Wisconsin" shoes, and intended to go to work. He sat down, but in order that he would not lose his shoes, if he should go to sleep, wrapped the laces around his hand so they could not be taken without awakening him and went to dreamland. While asleep the laces were cut and the shoes taken and to his surprise when he awoke he had nothing but part of the laces left. He notified Chief of Police Mundy, and gave a description of the man that he had been with and the Chief went down the railroad to the East Ward and located his man at Costello's hotel. Kelly seeing Mundy, started to run up Allegany Ave., to A. F. Andrew's where he took to the railroad but was met by Chief Mundy and he started back, and to his great surprise again run into Mr. Mundy, who had cut across lots and came out above Costello's hotel, where Kelly gave himself up. He was taken before Esquire Larrabee and in default of bail was committed to the county jail. The shoes that were stolen were recovered and are now in posession of the proper authorities.

Previous to the arrest of this man Kelly, landlord Murphy of the Commercial Hotel made complaint to Policeman Mundy that he could not keep a comb, soap or brush in his wash room, and upon searching the prisoner, a comb and other articles identified by landlord Murphy were found in his possession. Officer Mundy does not allow any of the law breakers to escape if he gets a clew of some kind. It is thought that this man Kelly is an old offender.

Preaching by the Pastor.

The Rev. W. H. Closson who has been appointed to succeed Rev. H. C. Bower who has resigned to go as a missionary teacher to Penang, Streights Settlement, will preach next Sunday Aug. 27, at More Hill, 11 a. m.; Howard Siding, 3 p. m.; and Beechwood at 7.30 p. m. Sept. 6, Dr. Wilcox, Presiding Elder, will preach at More Hill. We hope that there shall be a large attendence next Sunday to greet the new pastor.

Was Rolled.

A Romanian peddler went to sleep beside his pack near Pan-Am., depot last Friday night where he had the front cut out of his pants and relieved of his pocket book, containing about $20. The thieves also went through his pack and took a number of articles.

Fast Riding.

Attention has been called a number of times in regards to fast driving through our public thoroughfares but the driving of a horse is not to be compared with the fast running of an automobile or a motor cycle. The law is being violated every day. The pace is entirely too fast for the safety of our citizens and steps should be taken to stop the practice before some body is injured.

Did Not Preach.

The Rev. Mr. Vrooman, of Keating Summit, who was to have preached at First Methodist Episcopal Church here last Sunday was unexpectedly called to his home late Saturday night, on account of the serious illness of his daughter. The lady who has suffered from a stoke of paralysis for some time, suffered another attack Saturday evening. The many friends of the reverend gentleman were sorry to learn of the sad news and grievously disappointed that they did not meet their old pastor on this occasion.

Barn Burned.

The barn of R. P. Bingeman was discovered to be on fire Monday evening about 9:30 o'clock and the alarm brought out the firemen who succeeded in extinguishing it, it was thought, but the fire had gotten under the hay and about one o'clock broke out again and was put out by Thos. Smith, Alton Housler and Wm. Auchu. The fire started in the mow which contained about seven tons of hay and had gained considerable headway when discovered. The building was badly damaged. No insurance.

New Trespass Law.

The new trespass law which was passed by the last legislature provides a fine of ten dollars for those convicted of entering upon the premises of another to hunt or steal fruit, vegetables, etc., together with all the costs of prosecution. The law provides that where the defendants are not able to pay the fine and costs they shall be confined in jail one day for each dollar charged up against them, The law is a pretty strenuous one, but it will not effect honest people who do not steal, and dishonest people who do steal have no right to be considered.

Arrested in Oregon.

SUMPTER, ORE., Aug. 16.—S. D. Devlin a locomotive engineer, was arrested here yesterday by Sheriff Steele, of Cattaraugus county, N. Y., charged with the murder of a stranger, with whom he quarreled at Olean in that county. Devlin will be taken back to New York.

OLEAN, Aug. 16—The charge against Devlin is assault, second degree. He was indicted by the Cattaraugus grand jury in May this year. Thomas Wilson of Salamanca also a railroad man, was the victim of the alleged assault. Devlin's home is in DuBois. Offiers had been trying for months to locate him.

The PRESS published an account of the assault last spring and stated the facts at that time.

A Few Hurried Notes of A Jolly Picnic.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Baldwin and family, the hearts of the little lads and lassies of the town were made glad Wednesday. A picnic was billed to come off at the popular grove at Sizerville, and when Old Sol winked his best eye that morning everything was ready for a day of jollification and fun, and if all reports are correct (and of course they are) the little folks; also some larger ones, had a fine and handsome time.

They passed the day in pleasure, bathing, dancing, etc., and when they returned on the Buffalo train in the evening they were tired but happy. One of the interesting features was the base ball game played in the afternoon, the girls never missed striking at the ball and of course always missed it.

Mrs. Fred Seger was on hand with a kodak and took some interesting scenes Miss Taggart and Mr. Chas. Wiley got up just in time for the "eatins."

The luncheon prepared by Mrs. Baldwin was the "best ever", and to say that it was hugely enjoyed by all present is expressing it most mildly. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, sandwiches and coffee were served in the evening to which all did ample justice

Died Suddenly.

The community was terribly shocked this morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Cloyes, wife of Mr. H. H. Cloyes. The lady arose in her usual health and after eating breakfast felt kind of dizzy, and about eight o'clock was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage and died within a half hour. Her remains will be taken to Jamestown to-morrow morning on flyer for interment, which will be made on Sunday. She is survived by a husband and three small children. Mrs. Cloyes came to Emporium several years ago and made friends with all. She was a lady greatly beloved by all who knew her, and her death is a sad blow to her husband and children.

Base Ball.

There will be another game of base ball between the Renovo P. & E., team and Emporium nine at Keystone Park tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. While this is the same team that defeated Emporium last Saturday, owing to having no pitcher at the start of the game, the boys do not propose to allow such a walk over this time. Our team having played good ball all summer it is hoped all lovers of the game will turn out and do what "rooting" they can. The Renovo team is one of the strongest in this section and Emporium has beaten them on their home grounds. Turn out and see the game it will be a hummer.

The game at Renovo last Thursday between Emporium and Renovo P. & E., teams, was won after a twelve inning struggle by the Emporium boys, the score being 4 to 2 in their favor.

The Renovo P. R. R., team came to Emporium last Saturday and played a game with our boys. Owing to the crippled condition of our team, they won hands down. Score 16 to 6.

Mill Burned.

Mr. Frank Linninger, who has been employed by Hyde & Doutt at Eagle Rock, Pa., was in town between trains on Tuesday and made the PRESS a substantial business call. He informs us that the mill owned by the above company at that place was burned on Monday. The fire started during the noon hour, and while the company did all that could be done to save their property, having two fire companies at work, the entire mill equipement was destroyed. Mr. Linniger was on his way to his home at Cameron owing to the fire, it not being positively known whether the company intends to rebuild or not. They had one of the finest mills in that section of the country. It was fitted up with electric lights and had all the most modern labor saving appliances known. The loss is $30,000 with an insurance of $16,000.

J. C. Hyde Dead.

Word was received on Tuesday of the death of J. C. Hyde, a former resident of Emporium, who died at his home at Butler, Pa., on Monday. Mr. Hyde was Superintendent of a division of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroad, but on account of ill health, resigned that position some time ago and traveled in Southern California in hopes to regain his former health. We are informed he had recently accepted a position as superintendent of a Southern railroad. He is survived by a wife and two sons, Mrs. T. F. Moore of this place, being a sister of deceased.

The friends of Mr. Hyde at this place will be grieved to learn of his death.

Bitten by Rattlesnake.

A. H. Barr, of Huston Hill, was bitten by a rattlesnake, between the thumb and finger on Tuesday Aug. 15. Mr. Barr was out after berries and ran into a den of the reptiles and succeeded in killing seven. The Driftwood Gazette says: Dr. Merrill, of Dents Run, was hastily sent for and he bled the hand and did all that could be done, but he grew worse and Dr. Love, of Medix Run, was summoned, and on Saturday Dr. DeLong, of Emporinm was called in. At this writing, August 22nd, he is getting better and good hopes are entertained for his recovery. The arm is swollen very badly and has turned black, as has also his right side and across his stomach.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

HERTIG.

Mrs. Hertig, mother of Mr. John Hertig who resided Plank Road Hollow died on Tuesday, aged 78 years. The lady has resided in Emporium a number of years and had many friends. She is survided by two sons and three daughters, viz: John, George, Mrs. Kepler, Mrs. McConica and Miss Ida Hertig. The funeral will be held this afternoon.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

The Methodist Sunday school picnic at Keystone Park to-day.

Moses Ulman, a well known resident of Williamsport died Monday, aged 75 years.

This is the season of the year when the good housewife preserves almost everything except her equanimity.

A number of Williamsporters were swindled out of $67,500, stocks placed in the Western States, Portland Cement Company,.

Frank Striker spent a few days the past week at the city hall, at the pleasure of Chief of Police Mundy. The result of too much refreshments Saturday night.

We are in receipt of the handsomely illustrated catalogue of the Central State Normal School, Lock Haven Pa. Among its graduates we note, Miss Mattie M. Collins our excellent county Supt., of Schools, Misses Lilian Heilman, Nettie Moore, Claudia Roberts and Prof. John Schwab, who are teaching in the county.

The farmer is about the only business man who is in position to regulate his own hours of labor, and he fails to do so unless he uses his head as well as his hands. Business properly laid out will pay for help to carry it through. The successful farmer does the managing and takes a day or an hour off when it pleases him to do so.

Miss Roselle Knott, whose fame is spread throughout the entire country by reason of her performances, an actress whose artistry is ever well and delicately posed, is appearing in the role of the madcap "Mary Tudor" in Kane, Shipman and Colvin's gorgeous production of "When Knighthood Was In Flower" this season. Miss Knott is supported by one of the best, if not quite the best companies ever seen in the play, and their visit to this city is being awaited as a rare treat by lovers of all that is good in drama-land. At opera house, Aug. 30th. Performcommences promptly at 8 o'clock.

Pennsylvania Railroad Maintains Schedule.

[New York Tribune, August 13, 1905.]

During the month of July the Pennsylvania Special arrived in Chicago exactly on the minute of its schedule every day. The eastbound Pennsylvania Special arrived in New York, on schedule time twenty-three days. The average detention on seven days was less than ten minutes, due entirely to conditions for which the train crew could not be held responsible. The greatest breach in the schedule was on July 14, when the Special was held up behind a freight wreck, which blocked all four tracks on the Middle Division, entailing a loss of two hours and twenty-two minutes in the regular arriving time at New York.

It is difficult to find a match for this record. It demonstrates that the schedule has sufficient elasticity to take up any ordinary detentions which may occur between termini, and that even a faster regular schedule may be made should it be deemed wise. The fine condition of the roadbed, the efficient motive power, and skillful operation all contribute to the ease with which the Special accomplishes its work.

Identity of An Old Man Remains Unknown,

OLEAN, N. Y., Aug. 18—The dead body of a man who was apparently about 65 years old was found beside a hay stack in the tank lot near the pump station in North Olean yesterday morning by some of the pump station employes. He was about five feet, seven inches tall and would weigh about 150 pounds. His beard and mustache was sandy and his hair gray. It was somewhat thin on the front of his head. He had no teeth.

The man's clothing was cheap, his coat and vest being black and his trousers and shirt gray. The shirt was a woolen one. In the pocket was found a paper with the name of a hotel in Sinnamahoning, Pa., and in another was found a ticket on the Pennsylvania road between Sinnamahoning and Williamsport. There were no marks on the body and no money except one penny.

The men about the pump station saw the man lying on the east side of the hay stack Wednesday night but in the morning his body was on the north side when found. He had not been dead long.

It is believed the man has been employed about a livery stable or was a barn man about a hotel.

As to Immigration.

Railroad and steamship companies alike agree that the tide of immigration is again rising, and the record of a million people added to our population in 1904 by immigration is likely to be surpassed in the next few years. In the six years, 1900-1905, there have come to our shores 4,281,000 foreigners, while in the next preceding decade the number was 3,959,000. Many publicists view these figures with alarm and cry for increased restrictions.

It is noticeable that those who have had the greatest experience with immigration are not for exclusion. Since 1820 this country has absorbed more than 26,000,000 immigrants, and deducting those who have returned to their own countries it can be seen that the remainder, with their descendants, constitute a large part of what we are always boasting of—our great and rapid increase of population—in fact, an important proportion of our total population of 83,500,000 to-day. There seems to be a very general impression in the public mind that these earlier immigrants, whose descendants to-day are among our most solid and substantial business men, political leaders and citizens, were of some superior class. The opinion has no warrant in fact. Under the earlier immigration laws, the bars were down, and the immigrants came in to seek new homes and develop the fertile lands and rich mineral resources of the west. Again, it is claimed that now the immigrants do not go west or south to help develop the country, but remain in the cities. It is difficult to prove or disprove this assertion, but it can be shown that the great growth of the cities is in a large measure due to the crowding of the country people to the city, as is indicated by the condition of our New England farms. But, as a matter of fact, while the immigration is very large, the proportion of immigrants per capita is much less than it was half a century ago. If there is a problem here it is one of distribution, not of exclusion. Leaving out of consideration such testimony as might be given by presumably interested parties like the steamship agents, it clearly has been shown that the arriving immigrants are not the "scum" of Europe. The immigrants who came last year declared an average wealth of $25.78 per head, or more than $20,000,000 in the aggregate, and as they must have had from $85 to $95 each to pay fares to this country from their homes, a family of six must have saved up $500 before coming. Furthermore, the increase is not as large as assumed, because, while in the four ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore last year there were 693,000 arrivals, 359,000 people departed in the steerage. Moreover, the laws of Europe are framed to prevent people from leaving the European countries—not to send them here, and the greatest immigration agent is the letter sent home by the so-called "foreigner," become a good American citizen, who has made a home and secured a competence under American institutions.

This estimate of the man with a "grouch" from an Ohio contemporary just about rings the bell: "The man who stands around on the street corner and complains about his town the county, taxes and the weather is "mighty common clay." He is of little use to his family, his country or his God. But he seems to live and thrive in all kinds of weather and under all conditions; he is found at the crossroads store, the village, town and city. Like the fly, the mosquito and the chigger, he is not fatal, but he is mighty disagreeable."

Many jests will be made about the man who surrendered his pension because he has become a Christian Scientist, and the illness on which his cialm for a pension was based has disappeared. Yet the man is an example of soldierly patriotism and honor. He dealt as squarely with the government as a decent man deals with another individual. It is only the comparative rarity of this sort of conscientiousness which refuses to accept undeserved money from the government which makes it a fit subject for the paragraphers.

WILL BE BRYAN AGAIN.

The Undismayed Leader Still Thinks He Is the Only Democratic Moses.

The Boston Herald publishes a long and interesting special dispatch from Omaha, Neb., in which the plans of William J. Bryan and those who are cooperating with him are set forth with a great deal of detail. The corresopndent begins with this very positive declaration: "William J. Bryan is going to try to win the democratic nomination for the presidency in 1908. I have it upon the very best authority not only that he is going to try to win the nomination, but that he expects to win it. He is not going to be a 'receptive' candidate merely. He is going to be a very active, aggressive one."

Then follows much other information corroborative of the above declaration. From it all it appears, says the Troy (N. Y.) Times, that Mr. Bryan regards himself as the logical candidate of the party, because, representing the radical wing, he retired from the field last year and gave the conservatives full control. At the same time he proved his loyalty to the party by supporting its platform and nominees. The overwhelming defeat of Judge Parker is taken by Bryan to mean that no conservative can be nominated and elected. There are plenty of radicals who are eligible, but he considers his own claims paramount. Bryan is planning for a year's sojourn abroad, during which it is said he will study up the questions which the radical democracy will bring forward as issues, meanwhile perfecting his plan of campaign, which is already well matured. In fact, it would appear from the statements made in this Omaha dispatch that Bryan has an army enlisted in his service, and any number of democrats pledged in writing and through personal letters to support his candidacy and the issues which he will formulate.

The campaign, it appears, is to be based on the advocacy of government ownership of public utilities, Bryan being represented as wholly convinced that the country is roused to fever heat over this matter, while he will adhere to all the other doctrines taught by him, including the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1, belief in which he affirms as sturdily as though his party's candidate and convention had never declared the establishment of the gold standard to be irrevocable. In a word, it is the same Bryan that it was nine and five years ago, and the same slogan will be sounded as that which failed to rally the peolpe in 1896 and 1900. It is clear, from the correspondent's statements, that the Bryan purpose is to cut entirely loose from conservatism and to appeal to all the elements which go to make up the army of the discontented and the visionary.

It is a typical Bryan programme, and it will not alarm anyone who trusts in the sound sense, the "level head," of the American people. The "issues" which Bryan is credited with the purpose of bringing forward have been pretty well fought over and public sentiment regarding them is well defined. They are no more likely to be acceptable to the great body of American voters than they were in the last three campaigns. But if Bryan wishes permanently to drive out of his party the conservative democrats and to cause them permanently to identify themselves with republicanism, which represents the antithesis of what Bryan stands for, there will be no objection on the part of republicans.

Itch for Tariff-Ripping.

We would like to have somebody tell us just where the tariff as now adjusted is felt as a burden in any manner by the American people, with the solitary exception of the sugar tax. Wages have never been higher, the people never more generally employed, money never more plentiful, interest rates never lower, or the business of the country at large in a more healthy or prosperous condition. Things have not long ago been otherwise, and it would be mighty easy to get them that way again. And it is a funny thing that no other state has the tariff-ripping itch like Iowa has. Folks in other states ought to know something. It is probable their memories are better than ours. It is probably true if some men were not short on political capital there would not be so much ruction here.—Iowa State Register.

Innocent Irreverence.

Oliver was in the front yard one day when a gentleman passed by on the street. Oliver asked his nurse who it was.

"That was Mr. Lord," she responded.

Easy Enough.

She—And do you think it's possible for a man to love two girls at the same time?

He—Oh, yes; provided it isn't always at the same place.—Philadelphia Ledger.

☞"Democratic principles are popular," says Editor Bryan. Then what has caused so many democratic defeats? The candidates?—Chicago Tribune.

☞The country has the greatest confidence in Mr. Wilson, whose administration of the bureau of agriculture has been unprecedented for practical wisdom and for widespread effectiveness. It is safe to say that if there is any crookedness in that department the secretary will find it and make such short work of the unfaithfulness as might be expected from an honest man whose confidence in his employes has been abused.—Troy Times.

MANILA'S WELCOME TO TAFT

Reception to Former Governor Shows the Fallacy of Democratic Assertions.

Americans cannot fail to be gratified with the warm and obviously spontaneous welcome given to Secretary Taft on his recent return to the Philippine islands, where he was known to all as the chief representative of the authority of the United States during a long and in many respects most critical and trying period.

During his term as governor of that dependency, says the Chicago Chronicle, he had often felt it his duty to stand as the representative of what one may call the iron hand, and while always upholding the application of liberal justice he had proved himself as an officer of the law representing the sovereignty of the United States entirely antagonistic to the "scuttle policy" and the weak sentimentalism of our anti-imperialists of the ultra New England conscience type. This is said without any want of respect for the real New England conscience grounded in real manhood.

In the uncompromisingly judicial attitude which he took and maintained he had, and he thoroughly convinced the Filipino people that he had, the equally firm and considerate support of the national administration. The respect, confidence and good understanding which this reception shows forth prove that the island people fully appreciate him and the solid justice and intelligence of his aims and methods.

The anti-imperialists themselves are always insisting that the American element in the island population is small, and the more truth there may be in the statement the stronger is the inherent proof it furnishes that the warmth of this reception cannot be at all detracted from as being given by a crowd of American retainers and interested exploiters.

That the military force of the government would figure conspicuously in the reception given to the former governor, now secretary of war, was a foregone conclusion. Common decency demanded it. But it could not have been criticised had it been merely ceremonious, and there was no reason why the Filipino people should take any part in it which they did not wish to take. Nobody would have found fault with them especially had they chosen to be merely interested as individuals in a casual way.

It appears, however, that the military part of the reception was something warmer than ceremony, and one may suppose, from accounts of the thirty and odd Filipino organizations that participated, that the military features were neither the largest nor the warmest. These societies, made up of the best classes of the natives, were under no sort of obligation as organizations any more than their members as individuals to take public part in the festivities, and that they did so is a very significant fact.

The whole occasion, spontaneously offered among a people which the anti-imperialists are continually telling us are oppressed and discontented and verging on something worse, is one in which Secretary Taft, the national administration and the nation itself may well see reason for feeling genuine gratification.

Tyrants, wrongdoers, exploiters, blunderers, are not accorded such honors anywhere.

Time to Drop It.

The Springfield Union, in seeking Canadian reciprocity sentiment, has learned there is no Canadian reciprocity sentiment. It is well for the Union to find this out for itself. The rest of us have known it for some time. Canada wants no treaty, and if she did it would be one of such pronounced advantage to her that we would not consider it. Isn't it about time to drop this talk and let it be confined to Foss and Harris and their free trade allies? We are selling to Canada now twice as much as we buy from her. A reciprocity treaty would mean a reversal of this condition. And so it would be with any other country. In the language of the American Free Trade league: Reciprocity is free trade. Partial reciprocity is a step toward free trade.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS

It Is Likely to be Reached by Peace Envoys on Tuesday, at the Next Session.

THE JAPS HAVE YIELDED NOTHING

Pressure Is Being Exerted to Induce Japan to Moderate Her Terms, but the Chances for Compromise Are Regarded as Very Slim.

At midnight Assistant Secretary Peirce was called to the Hotel Wentworth, where a message was awaiting him from the president. He immediately wrote a lengthy reply. Later he was called to the telegraph instrument and for half an hour carried on a conversation by telegraph with the president, who was at the other end of the wire at Oyster Bay.

The Associated Press has reason to believe that the purpose of the president's conversation with Mr. Peirce was to arrange for one of the Russians to go to Oyster Bay. The president is already in communication with the Japanese through Baron Kaneko.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 19.—Black pessmism reigns at Portsmouth. The prevailing view is that the fate of the peace conference is already sealed; that it has ended in failure and that all that now remains is for the plenipotentiaries to meet on Tuesday, to which day they adjourned Friday afternoon upon completing the seriatim consideration of the Japanese terms, sign the final protocol and bid each other farewell.

But there is still room for hope of a compromise. Neither President Roosevelt nor the powers will see the chance of peace shipwrecked without a final effort, and that pressure is being exerted, especially at Tokio, to induce Japan to moderate her terms is beyond question. King Edward is understood to be lending a helping hand and the financiers of the world are exerting all their influence. At Tokio and St. Petersburg the final issue will be decided. The Japanese have been implacable throughout the six days' sittings. They have listened and explained, but they have yielded not an iota of their original demands.

Mr. Witte accepted outright seven of the 12 Japanese conditions, one in principle and four, including the main issues, indemnity and Sakhalin he rejected. The other two, limitation of naval power and the surrender of interned warships, might have been arranged had there been any prospect of agreement on the two points upon which the divergence seemed irreconcilable.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 15.—Although very rapid progress was made with the peace negotiations Monday, three of the 12 articles which constitute the Japanese conditions of peace having been agreed to by Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen on behalf of Russia, neither of the two articles to which Mr. Witte in his reply returned an absolute negative was reached. The three "articles" as they are officially designated in the brief communications authorized to be given to the press which were disposed of Monday are as follows:

First — Russia's recognition of Japan's "preponderating influence" and special position in Korea, which Russia henceforth agrees is outside of her sphere of influence, Japan binding herself to recognize the suzerainty of the reigning family, but with the right to give advice and assistance to improve the civil administration of the empire.

Second—Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria, each to surrender all special privileges in that province, mutual obligation to respect the "territorial integrity" of China and to maintain the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations in that province (open door).

Third—The cession to China of the Chinese Eastern railroad from Harbin southward.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 16.—The crisis in the peace negotiations on which the eyes of the world are fastened is approaching rapidly and the end of this week or the first of next at the least should witness the deadlock and the end, if the conference is to go to pieces. Two more of the 12 articles, Nos. 4 and 6, were disposed of Tuesday. Article 4 consists of mutual pledges to observe the integrity of China and the policy of the "open door" for the commerce of all nations, and Article 6 covers the surrender of the Russian leases to the Liao Tung peninsula, Port Arthur, Dalny and the Blondo and Elliott Islands.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 18.—The crisis in the peace conference has been reached and pessimism is again the note.

The pessimism is based upon the fact that no progress was made Thursday. The exchange of views at the morning session on Article 9 (remuneration for the cost of the war) showed at once that the plenipotentiaries were as far apart as the poles and it was passed over.

Schooner and Crew Lost.

North Sydney, N. S., Aug. 15.—A small schooner which was sailing along the coast off Lingan Head was struck by a severe squall yesterday and capsized. Before those on shore could make preparations for assistance the storm increased to a hurricane and one by one the crew were seen to fall away from the bottom of their overturned craft.

Soldiers Mutilated Their Hands.

Harbin, Aug. 15.—Among the soldiers medically treated here 1,200 were found to be self-mutilated on the first fingers of the right hand.

THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA.

The Czar Orders the Convocation of a National Assembly and Grants a Limited Suffrage.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—Russia's national representative assembly, the fruit of decades of striving for reform, which endows the Russian people with the right of being consulted through their chosen representatives in the suggestion, preparation and repeal of legislation, to-day takes its place among the fundamental institutions of the empire.

In a solemn manifesto Emperor Nicholas announces this morning to his subjects the fruition of his plans summoning the representatives of the people, as outlined by him in a rescript issued on March 3 last, and fixes the date for the first convocation as mid-January and in a ukase addressed to the senate orders that body to register as the imperial will a law project formulating the nature, power and procedure of the new governmental organization.

The national assembly will be a consultive organization in connection with the council of the empire and not a legislative body. The powers of the emperor remain theoretically absolute.

The representatives of the people will have not only the right to be heard on any legislation proposed by the government, but also can voice their desires on new laws and will have the right to exert a certain supervision over budget expenditures.

The suffrage, though wide, is not universal. It is based on property qualification, the peasantry having a vote through membership in commercial organizations.

A considerable portion of the residents of the cities, possessing no lands, together with women, soldiers, etc., are without suffrage.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

Encouraging Reports are Received from All Branches.

New York, Aug. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Assurance of prosperity on the farms generates confidence in all departments of trade and industry. Contracts are placed for distant delivery and commercial payments are more prompt. It is also gratifying to note that pending and threatening labor controversies are less numerous; a higher scale was adopted at glass factories, and the attractive wages paid to harvest hands have reduced the ranks of the unemployed to a minimum. Jobbing trade is brisk, especially in dry goods.

Mills and factories are well employed, little idle machinery being noted in the prominent industries, although iron and steel returns are still somewhat irregular. Traffic by rail and water is very heavy, railway earnings thus far reported for August exceeding last year's figures by 6.6 per cent.

Commercial failures this week in the United States number 218, against 226 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 28, against 24 last year.

BOMBS CAME IN THE MAIL.

Infernal Machines Are Sent to the Offices of Prominent New York Jews.

New York, Aug. 19.—Two small infernal machines were sent to prominent New Yorkers yesterday. Jacob H. Schiff, the banker who this week conferred with Mr. Witte, the chief Russian peace plenipotentiary, concerning the condition of the Jews in Russia, was the target of the more dangerous of the machines, a contrivance capable of causing death. The other was received by M. Guggenheim's Sons and was directed to the office of the American Smelting and Refining Co.

Mr. Schiff was absent from the city, being at Bar Harbor. The banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of which he is a member, received by mail a wooden box about six inches long addressed to Mr. Schiff and marked as if coming from Edward Seventh. It was immediately turned over to the police, although at first regarded only as a joke. Grave reports from expert testers at the bureau of combustibles, however, quickly suggested that the sender might have had other motives than pleasantry. The police began an immediate investigation.

WEBB JAY IS BADLY HURT.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Webb Jay, of Cleveland, was probably fatally injured at Kenilworth park Friday in the ten-mile automobile race. At the three-quarters of the fourth mile Jay's machine crashed through the fence, down an embankment of 15 feet and into a pond. What caused the accident is not known. It is believed, however, that Jay was blinded by dust and steered into the fence. He was driving about a mile a minute when the accident happened.

Jay, unconscious, would have been drowned had not two spectators sitting on the fence nearby gone to his rescue and dragged him out. He was taken to the German hospital, where it was found that nine ribs are broken, one of his lungs is punctured and his right femur is fractured.

Groceryman Killed a Burglar.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—Edward Hollaran, aged 15 years, of Allegheny, was shot dead early Friday at Riverview, Pa., by Thompson Nolder, whose grocery store, it is said, he was robbing. Hollaran and eight other companions escaped Thursday from the Morganza reform school.

A Triple Execution.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 19.—James Norfleet, John Champion and General Bone, three negro murderers, were hanged here Friday. They killed women of their own race.

TWELVE LIVES CRUSHED OUT

A Mountain of Rock Fell from the Side of a Huge Quarry at Ormrod, Pa.

IT DROPPED ON 18 WORKMEN

Twelve Were Killed and Six Injured, Some Fatally—Nine Men Escaped in Safety — Mass of Rock Weighed Thousands of Tons.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 17.—A mass of limestone weighing thousands of tons slid from a side of the quarry of mill A, of the Lehigh Cement Co. at Ormrod at noon Wednesday, just five minutes before time to quit work. Twenty-seven men were at work in the quarry, which is a thousand feet long, 150 feet across and 100 feet deep. Heavy rains for two days had softened the earth and caused the slide of rock. Where the fallen mass slipped away a smooth, nearly perpendicular wall was left, rising sheer 100 feet above the bottom of the quarry, while the entire quarry floor was covered with broken, jagged rock.

Only nine of the men got away safely, four of whom escaped by running up on a mass of rock at the opposite side of the quarry. The remaining 18 were huddled in a space ten feet square, 12 of whom were killed and six injured. Two of the latter may die. All of the men are Slavonians who lived in shanties close to the quarry.

Two men who saw the side of the quarry quiver shouted a warning to the men. The men misinterpreted the calls and failed to move out of the zone of danger until it was too late. With a thunderous roar the mountain of rock fell, pinning the men fast.

All the men from the neighboring companies as well as the rigging gang set to work at once to extricate the unfortunates. They used block and tackle, crowbars, hydraulic jacks and pitchforks to remove the stone, many of which weighed three tons. Moans were heard coming from several places and there the rescuers directed their efforts. They gradually uncovered one man after another and at 5:30 got out the last live man. His head and shoulders were exposed from the first, but his legs were pinned fast by an enormous boulder.

Six men were found huddled in one place, four standing and two lying down. Three were alive and one died before he could be gotten out. Five physicians were summoned who gave the injured first aid on the scene and then had them hurried to the Allentown hospital. The lead were laid on boards and carried to the stock house. Eight bodies were recovered before dark, at which time two more were exposed to view and two others buried deep in the pit.

TARIFF REVISIONISTS.

They Meet in Convention at Chicago and Adopt a New War Cry.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—"Dual tariffs" in all probability is the war cry that will ring through the United States for some years to come, instead of the familiar call for "reciprocity."

The new slogan means the passage of a "maximum and minimum" tariff law permitting the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with friendly foreign countries by vote of congress.

Alvin H. Sanders, chairman of the executive committee of the national reciprocity conference which opened its two days' session at the Illinois theatre yesterday, is credited with originating the war cry. Mr. Sanders broached his suggestion to a few friends after the word reciprocity had received some rough handling on the floor of the convention and it met approval among the delegates.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The reciprocity conference called to devise means of bettering the trade relations between the United States and foreign countries finished its work Thursday, arranged for a committee of 15 to prosecute the plans of the convention and formed a permanent organization to be styled the American Reciprocal Tariff League. The committee will be appointed by the chair with power to organize and promote the work for which the convention assembled.

The resolutions adopted advocate a maximum and minimum tariff as a means of relieving the situation with which this country is confronted, and suggest that such reciprocal concessions be arranged by a permanent tariff commission, to be created by congress and to be appointed by the president.

The principal speaker was Gov. A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, who in a speech full of fire and eloquence hurled defiance at the enemies of reciprocity. Mr. Cummins brought the audience under his spell and except when interrupted with uproarious applause, he held full sway for three-quarters of an hour.

Train Crashed Into a Trolley Car.

Cincinnati, Aug. 17.—Three men were killed and ten persons were injured last night when an express train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern crashed into a trolley car at Winton Place, a suburb. All the killed lived in Winton Place. The dead: Robert J. Smith, William Tueting, jr. An unidentified man.

Vienna's Workmen Strike.

Vienna, Aug. 17.—The workmen in all the factories here went on strike yesterday. Their attitude is threatening.

THE LARGEST TUSKS.

FOUND ON A BULL ELEPHANT IN CENTRAL AFRICA.

One of Them Made a Load for Four Men—Both Were Brought to America—One Was Returned to London.

New York.—This is a picture of one of the two largest tusks that ever came into the ivory trade. Both came from the same animal.

The specimen here supported by four ivory carriers weighs 247 pounds. Think of carrying around to a very venerable age a weight of nearly 500 pounds in tusks alone! No wonder that an elephant's neck is so thick and muscular.

One day about eight years ago a party of black elephant hunters on a slope of Mount Kilimanjaro saw the animal that was carrying these wonderful tusks around and killed it. The villagers down below were much astonished when they saw four men carrying the ivory down the mountain. They had never seen a tusk before that was more than a one-man load.

The tusks were taken to Zanzibar, where they were the talk of the town. The bidding for them was spirited, and naturally enough, they were purchased for the American trade. Both of them came to New York, but one crossed the ocean again and is now in the British museum.

The agent of a Berlin museum arrived in Zanzibar a few days after the tusks had been shipped, and was greatly chagrined because one of them had not been purchased for him. He had left a sum of money there with instructions that if anything unique in the museum line came along it was to be purchased for his institution.

On his return to Europe he telegraphed to America to learn what one of the tusks might be purchased for. The answer was $5,000, and that settled it. Berlin never expects to own one of the biggest tusks in the world.

It is rare that a tusk weighs more than from 100 to 120 pounds. The size of the tusk does not depend upon the age or size of the animal. Some of the largest tusks have been obtained from small elephants.

A LOAD FOR FOUR MEN.
(The Largest Elephant Tusks of Which There Is Any Record.)

These two tusks were more than nine feet in length, but the aged bull elephant that wore them was of only medium size. The next largest tusks on record in the African trade weighed respectively 226½ and 175 pounds.

No one ever hears of such ravages among the Indian elephants as has been made by hunters among the African herds. This is due to the inferiority of size of their tusks, and therefore in the value of the ivory they yield.

An Asiatic cow elephant has very small tusks or none at all, and very few of the males have large development of ivory. They are like some men who cannot grow whiskers even with the stimulus of hair lotions. But this inferiority has been their salvation, for there are no signs that they will meet the doom of extermination that threatens their African brethren.

The heaviest Asiatic tusks that are known to have come into the market weighed 109, 106 and 100 pounds. The largest tusk of a mammoth yet dug out of the soil weighed 173 pounds.

So the old animal which was caught on the side of Kilimanjaro takes the palm, as far as the records go, in ancient or modern times.

Southampton's Success.

Tidal oddities are the secret of the prosperity of Southampton, which is used as a port of entry in spite of the fact that under ordinary conditions costly dredging would be required to make the town available as a port. Southampton has four tides daily in place of the ordinary two, and scarcely has one tide begun to ebb when a second checks its progress and gives high water again. Owing to the position of the Isle of Wight, the tides enter both from the English channel and the Solent, and there is but an hour of ebb to each tide. This enables the largest steamers to dock at any time, and has drawn largely from Liverpool, with its costly improvements.

Costly Crown for a Statue.

Seventeen hours of religious services preceded the crowning of the statue of "The Virgin of the Pillar," in the Cathedral of Saragossa. Twenty-two altars were in use, services being continuous at all of them, and at last the archbishop advanced with due solemnity and placed the crown upon the head of the statue, while a military band stationed outside played the royal march and a salute was fired from the fort. The ceremony was followed by a jollification and the performance of national dances in the market place. The crown was presented by the queen mother and the ladies of the aristocracy of Madrid, and is valued at $150,000, being more costly than some of the crowns worn by kings.

Name of Cape Horn.

Cape Horn was so named by Sponten, a Dutch sailor, who first "doubled it," from the name of his birthplace, Hoorne, a village on the Zuyder Zee.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The paint is the most important factor in painting. A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($30.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the poor painter's, $30.00.

'Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Farmers should select a pleasant, expressive name for their farm and have it neatly posted at the roadside. The name is an advantage in more ways than one. It is a good advertisement and it is an incentive to keep the farm in good condition, because it establishes a sort of reputation that must be maintained.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Cure jaundice Sold by R. C. Dodson.

It makes many a man blush to look an honest horse in the face.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at L. Taggart's drug store; price 50c.

Education is simply the art or creating environment.

The Only Way.

There is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will be let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour risings, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles that are cureable are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Kodol digests what you eat and strengthens the whole digestive apparatus. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Letter to N. A. Ostrum.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: It's the same everywhere;; can't guess little enough.

Mr. C. O. Brown, Columbia, S. C., employed an experienced painter to paint his house. The painter on seeing the quantity sent to the house—Devoe—said there wasn't enough, There were ten gallons left, when the job was done.

It's the common experience.

Yours truly

HAY FEVER FOY 27 YEARS.

Well Known New England Women Cured of Hay Fever—Cure Was Lasting.

The thousands of discouraged people who dread the approach of summer because they have hay fever and cannot find any relief from it, will read with interest and gratitude the following statement from Helen S. Williams, of Mansfield, Mass.

"For 27 years, from the month of August until heavy frost, have been afflicted with hay fever, growing worse and worse each year, until of late years I was unable to attend to my work during that period.

"Last summer I fortunately gave Hyomei a trial, and I am happy to say that it entirely cured me, and I have had no occurance of the disease since."

The letter is only one of many that have come to the proprietors of Hyomei, and the results following this treatment have been so remarkable that it is proposed at the annual convention of hay fever sufferers to recommend Hyomei.

By breathing the germ-killing and healing balsams of Hyomei, anyone can have at any moment of the day, either in their home or office, a climate like that of the White Mountains.

The complete outfit costs but $1, extra bottles 50cents. L. Taggart agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without benefit.

A Touching Story.

Is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyler, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave he up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At L. Taggart's drug store; 50c and $1.00 guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

A spoiled child is not so much to blame, it did not choose its parents.

Dangerous and Uncertain.

For sunburn, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, carbuncles, etc., are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Accept no substitute as they are dangerous and uncertain. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

No man or woman is ever good just for the fun of the thing.

Take Kodol After Eating.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will peevent an attack of indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for indigestion, dyspepsia, gas on the stomach, weak heart, sour risings. Bad Breath and stomach troubles. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Some men are as hard to get along with as balky horses.

Fiendish Suffering.

Is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers, that eat away your skin. Wm. Bedell, of Flat Rock, Mich., says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, for Ulcers, Sores and Cancers. It is the best healing dressing I ever found." Soothes and heals cuts, burns and scalds. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store; guaranteed.

It takes more than a white tie to cover a black heart.

Pecular Disappearance.

J. D. Runyan, of Butlerville, O., laid the peculiar disappearance of his painful symptoms, of indigestion and biliousness, to Dr. King's New Life Pills He says: "They are a perfect remedy, for dizziness; sour stomach, headache, constipation, etc." Guaranteed at L. Taggart's drug store, price 25c.

The perfume of life comes from the flowers of affection.

Soothing and Cooling.

The salve that heals without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. No remedy effects such speedy relief. It draws out inflamation, soothes, cools and heals all cuts, burns and bruises. A sure cure for piles and skin diseases. DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of counterfeits, they are dangerous. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

The Lassies

Who use molasses demand the best syrup obtainable. Treacle is not molasses although there's much treacle sailing under false colors. The difference between treacle and molasses lies in the fact that treacle comes from sugar in the process of making, while molasses is obtained in the process of refining. You can not get good out of bad, but you can get the best from the best which comes from the sugar.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET WELL.

Nature Helps Mi-o-na Cure Stomach Troubles in Short Order.

The summer months are the best in the whole year for the treatment and cure of stomach troubles. The out-door life, with natural exercise, the fruit and berries which are so freely eaten, all help to restore healthy action to the digestive organs.

Now when Nature will aid Mi-o-na in curing indigestion and giving strength to the stomach and whole digestive system, is the best time to use this remarkable remedy.

Taken before each meal, Mi-o-na will soothe and heal the inflamed and irritated lining of the stomach and solar-plexus, and strengthen the nerves of the digestive tract. Used at any time of the year, it cures all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer, but in the summer months it gives health and strength twice as quickly.

If you suffer with headache, indigestion, flatulency, specks before the eyes, fermentation, heart burn, dizziness, or have a variable appetite, and a general feeling of despondency or weakness, it shows clearly that the stomach is not digesting the food as it should. Instead of the food being assimiliated and making rich, red blood and good solid, flesh and muscles, it is turned in the stomach into a sour, slimy, fermenting mass that causes gases, distress after eating, and poisonous germs that fill the whole body with poor health.

Just one little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na for a few days, and all this will be changed for the better, and health restored. Ask L. Taggart to show you the Mi-o-na guarantee.

THEIR DEMANDS.

SHE.

He must be pure, he must be wise,
He must have youth, he must be strong,
He must have eagerness to rise
Above the level of the throng.
He must be handsome, tall and straight,
A proud descent he must possess:
When He comes I'll capitulate
And strive to yield him happiness.

HE.

She must, before all other things,
Be free from sordid motives—ay,
She must be pure enough for wings
And have ideals that are high.
She must be modest and have wit,
She must be steadfast, cultured, sweet:
When I catch up with Her I'll quit
Postponing and kneel at her feet.

ENVOY.

He had a squint and legs that bowed,
His mother once had cooked at sea,
But Luck or Fortune had bestowed
Great heaps of wealth upon him: She
Had little wit and would have sold
Her soul for gold, but she was fair,
Most fair and graceful to behold—
And they arranged things then and there.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

A score of canoes shot forth from the shore and surrounded the "Saint Honore," their occupants eager to hear the news from the home country and to see the faces of the newcomers. On board everything was in confusion, as one and all prepared to exchange their cramped quarters for the liberty of shore life. At length all were ready to land and assembled themselves on the deck. Just then came stealing to their ears the sweet tones of the Angelus, hushing the noisy throng as they knelt, softened by this homely welcome that brought the tears to more than one eye as it minded them of the far-distant Norman coast or field of Picardy.

As the canoe containing La Salle and his companions approached the landing-place they could see it filled with a welcoming crowd. Foremost among them stood the governor, the intendant, and members of the council, together with the chief men of the town. As La Salle stepped ashore the Comte Frontenac met him with a friendly smile and hearty grasp.

"Bienvu, mon cher La Salle! Welcome again to Quebec and all New France," he said.

"Thanks, M. le Gouverneur," was the reply. "Ma foi! but I like not the rolling ship and long voyage. Give me rather the canoe and paddle again, with the shore always in easy reach and a sheltered spot on Mother Earth in which to sleep or stretch my limbs before the supper fire. But I forget; I have made new friends since I saw you and have brought one, stanch and true, with me." Thus speaking, he presented Tonti. Then turning to a man who stood with a lowering brow, biting his lips as he watched the hearty exchange of greetings between the two:

"Ah! and you, how has it fared with M. l'Intendant Duchesneau? And you also, Bizard, and little Barrios, too? Par Dieu! man, but you have grown shorter since I left."

The party started up the narrow street, Frontenac and Tonti leading the way, asking and answering all manner of questions relating to the king, the court, and the army. Behind them walked La Salle (bowing now and then as he caught sight of a familiar face in the crowd), together with Barrios, the governor's secretary, and Bizard, lieutenant of his guard; Duchesneau, after responding to La Salle's greeting in a half-hearted sort of way, remaining behind to see the other passengers and receive whatever dispatches the ship had brought from the king.

The city was divided into an upper and a lower town, the former occupied by the government officials, soldiers, priests and nuns, while the latter (consisting of one long street taking up the space between the river's edge and the foot of the bluffs) was made up of the homes of traders, sailors and a few Indians and fishermen. The ascent to the upper town was made by either of two ways; the first, a passage with steps cut in the rock, while the other, over which the governor now passed, was a steep street lined with houses. As they walked slowly along, the passers-by saluted the governor with deference, and stopped to gaze at the faces of the strangers. A little beyond the Episcopal palace, Frontenac paused to gain his breath and await the arrival of the others. "A long climb, hein, mes amies? Come with me to the Chateau; you are to lodge beneath my official roof."

At seven o'clock La Salle and Tonti were ushered into the apartment designated by Frontenac when he left them. The walls were of oak and the high ceiling showed the rafters blackened by the smoke that poured from the fireplace when the wind came from the northwest. Above this fireplace were hung the large, branching antlers of a moose, used as a hat-rack by the worthy comte. A number of pictures brought from France were decorated with strings of vari-colored wampum entwined about their frames, while a red blanket or a pair of moccasins were attached to the walls here and there, giving a bright touch of color to the otherwise gloomy interior. The swinging cressets that furnished from overhead a light much feebler than that emanating from the blazing logs, showed in one corner an old tarnished corselet and some steel pikes, while in another a massive carved desk and chair betrayed the official character of the room. In the center of the floor carpeted with many skins stood a heavy table, set with snow-white napery and polished silver. Three high-backed chairs denoted the number of the expected diners.

While warming themselves before the fire (the autumn nights were chilly an hour after the sun went down) and gazing at the mixture of civilization and barbarism about them, Frontenac entered the room, and soon all were engaged with hearty appeties at their evening meal. They talked freely of the plans for the furtrade that La Salle hoped to be able to build up. Frontenac, as a sort of partner in the enterprise, offered advice and gave his views frankly on all subjects discussed.

A knock at the door and a servant entered to announce that the members of the superior council were awaiting the governor's pleasure to begin the business of the meeting. Frontenac had called for the reading of the dispatches that had arrived on the "Saint Honore" and the transaction of other important business. Tonti and La Salle accordingly withdrew and the governor passed to the council chamber. The relation of his wrongs to his friends had tended to arouse the irritability that was so prominent a characteristic of the man. On entering the room a cloud gathered on his brow, as he saw all the members of the council seated about a large table engaged in earnest conversation. No one stirred as he appeared, and it was only after his angry look that they seemed to recollect his position and accordingly arose, some of them reluctantly enough, and bowed, remaining standing until he had taken his seat.

"How now, messieurs!" he exclaimed, "do you proceed with the council's business without waiting for its chief and president?" Then not pausing for a reply, he seated himself at the head of the table, having the bishop on his right hand and the intendant on his left, and directed them to proceed to business.

Duchesneau accordingly broke the seal bearing the royal impression, and handed it to the secretary to read. All listened eagerly to learn what messages the king sent to the chief officers of his colony. The first portion, dealing with matters pertaining to the state, was attended to with a respectful interest, but it was not until the latter part was reached, which touched upon the various disputes between governor and intendant in which each member of the council had taken sides, that the interest became intense.

"M. le Comte de Frontenac," read the secretary, "we are surprised to learn all the new troubles and dissensions that have occurred in our country of New France, more especially since we have clearly and strongly given you to understand that your sole care should be to maintain harmony and peace among all our subjects dwelling therein. We have examined with care the contents of all the dispatches which you have written us during the last year; and as the matters of which they treat are sufficiently ample, including dissensions almost universal among those whose duty it is to preserve harmony in the country under your command, we have weighed both sides and have this only to say to you: Consider well that, if it is any advantage or any satisfaction to you that we should be satisfied with your services, it is necessary that you change entirely the conduct which you have hitherto pursued."

During the reading Duchesneau's face gleamed with pleasure, while that portion of the council that sided with him (Auteuil the attorney general, Villiray and Tilly) exchanged glances of hearty satisfaction. Frontenac's wrath was greatly augmented at this public rebuke from the king, but he only commanded in a sharp tone that the secretary proceed with the reading.

"As for you, M. l'Inteadant, we have examined all the letters, papers and memorials that you sent us; and though it appear by the letters of M. de Frontenac that this conduct leaves something to be desired, there is assuredly far more to blame in yours than in his. As to what you say concerning his violence, his trade with the Indians, and in general all that you allege against him, we have written him a warning already. But since in the midst of your complaints you say many things which are without foundation, or which are no concern of yours, it is difficult to believe that you act in the spirit which we demand; that is to say, without interest and without prejudice. If a change does not appear in your conduct before next year, we shall keep you no longer in office."

It was now the turn of Frontenac and his adherents, who constituted a majority of the council, to rejoice. The governor smiled scornfully as he saw the color mount on Duchesneau's face during the reading of this sharp reproof.

The next business taken up was the reading of the draft of a resolution passed at the previous meeting of the council, which had been made out in terms agreeable to the governor.

"See that it be writ well and fair upon the records," said Frontenac. Then turning to Duchesneau, he continued: "If M. l'Intendent's hand is steady enough, he can sign it now."

Duchesneau still smarting under the king's message, and disliking the tone of the governor, which amounted to a command, replied:

"If the council permit, I and the secretary will withdraw into the adjoining room where we can examine it in peace and enter it in proper form."

Frontenac blazed up at once. "And keep the governor and the council waiting? Ma foi! since when have we attended on your pleasure? Dame! sign it at once. I would have no security that the resolution would be accurately transcribed, did I not see it signed in my presence."

Stung to the quick, Duchesneau arose, and motioning to the secretary to follow him, seized the draft in his hand and made for the door. The governor, thunder-struck at his resistance, planted himself firmly before it and exclaimed passionately:

"Mordioux! you shall not leave the council chamber until you have signed the paper. After that I care not when you leave, nor how long you remain away, either."

"Then I shall get out of the window, or else stay here all night," retorted the intendant, obstinately.

"Peace, M. le Gouverneur, and you, M. l'Intendant," said the bishop, who, although antagonistic to Frontenac, saw that Duchesneau had gone too far, "accede to his reasonable request."

The intendant looked about him sullenly, then approaching the table, signed the document, and turned to the governor, defiantly: "I withdraw my opposition;" next addressing the council, "I crave leave, Messieurs, to read this communication that was handed me before entering."

So saying, he read a petition from one of the members of the council, D'Amours by name, whose chair was vacant. It stated that Frontenac had put him in prison, because, having obtained in due form a passport to send a canoe to his fishing-station at Matane, he had afterwards sent a sailboat thither without applying for another passport. The governor had sent for him and demanded by what right he did so. D'Amours replied that he believed he had acted in accordance with the intention of the king; whereupon "M. le Gouverneur fell into a rage and said to your petitioner, 'I will teach you the intentions of the king; and you shall stay in prison till you learn them;' and your petitioner was shut up in a chamber of the Chateau, wherein he still remains and prays the honorable council that a trial be granted him according to law."

Duchesneau glanced vindictively at the governor whilst reading the petition, well knowing that it would act as a bomb-shell among the members of the council. He had no sooner finished than everything was in an uproar.

The partisans of Duchesneau were on their feet loudly clamoring for the release of their absent member, whilst others, friendly to the governor, vainly strove to pacify them in order to gain a hearing for him. The confusion increased, ink was spilled, documents tossed from the table, fists were raised in air, and faces distorted with passion. Above the din the voices of Auteuil, Tilly and Villiray were heard loudly calling for justice, saying that their own personal liberty was in danger and that they would fight against such tyranny.

Frontenac had risen with such violence as to send the high-backed chair crashing over on the floor. He stood defiantly facing the angry councillors. His anger choked him, his face and neck were purple with rage; the veins on his forehead stood out like great cords; his eyes streamed fire. At length he found utterance in speech as he heard the cries for justice and the words against tyranny. Striking with his huge fist upon the table, he bellowed "Silence!" and when he could be heard, continued:

"Ye dolts and rebels that cry forth for justice and threaten to raise arms against a tyrant, hear me! Know ye not that I am governor, that in my person stands the king? If I have done aught amiss, I am answerable to him. You clamor against my enforcements of the law. What would you? That I overlook its infringement and thus give seeming ground for more lying letters and infamous reports? Were I to gloss over the transgressions of the law like you, M. l'Intendant, with your illicit brandy-trade, your connivance with coureurs-de-bois and fur-traders, the king would have anarchy throughout his colony instead of law and order. The case is plain. M. D'Amours admits the commission of his fault, but claims the right of private interpretation of the king's commands. That right I deny. Were I to allow law-breaking in high places to go unpunished, in six months who would be found in all the colony who would not point to these as precedents, and excuse themselves? As for you who seek to fight a tyrant, know well with whom you have to deal." Then leaning over, he whispered low to his secretary, who hastily wrote at his dictation. When he had finished he quickly signed his name, and calling to a soldier standing guard outside the door, handed the paper to him, saying:

"Lieut. Bizard, here is an order of banishment from Quebec for Messieurs Tilly, Auteuil and Villiray; they are to retire to their country homes and remain there, awaiting my commands. See that this order is obeyed;" and stamping out of the room, he was gone.

CHAPTER XII.

DEVOTED TO SECRET SERVICE, SHOWING THAT WALLS AND OTHER INANIMATE OBJECTS OFTEN HAVE EARS.

The scenes of anger and violence were over. The exiled councillors had retired to their homes on parole that they would leave Quebec the next morning. The inhabitants of the Chateau were all asleep, and the entire citadel was again at peace.

A sentinel pacing his weary watch upon the rampart was the only living thing visible in the moonlight, while the barking of a solitary dog in the lower town and the distant howl of a hungry wolf from the direction of Beaupre were the only sounds apparently that broke the silence of a continent.

It was already after midnight, and the guard had been changed, when a keen eye might have seen a dark figure pass silently along within the shade of the barracks, the guard-room, and the Chauteau itself, until it finally was merged in the deep shadow of the magazine at the extreme end of the fort. Soon after another form appeared, gliding by the same route to a common rendezvous. Within the shelter of the building they stood and conversed in low tones, while awaiting the arrival of some one else. At length a third muffled figure joined them, and asked in an authoritative voice:

"Are we all here?"

"Yes, M. l'Intendant, and waiting," spoke up one of the group rather testily, as he shivered with the cold and drew his cloak closer about his shoulders.

"Pardon my delay, Monsieur l'Eveque," replied Duchesneau, "but I was merely taking the necessary precautions. I gave orders to have an extra amount of liquor served to the soldiers in the guard-room to-night, and delayed my coming until I had made sure that yonder sentinel received his double allowance before his turn came. He is too happy now to watch the shadows very closely; listen, you can hear him singing to himself."

"But are you sure we are entirely secure here?" spoke up the third member of the group, who looked uneasily about him.

"Certainement!" Duchesneau replied, with a slight touch of scorn in his tones, "unless the obscurity about us or yonder log have ears. But to the business we have come for." Then turning to the first speaker again, he went on. "Your letter to M. le Ministre, Monsieur l'Eveque, did not seem to have much weight, for the Sieur de la Salle has come in spite of your efforts."

"True, M. l'Intendant," was the reply, "but it seems that he managed to gain the ear of the king first. Listen while I give you the words of his reply;" and he repeated from memory the secret letter of Colbert's.

Back to the Old Rations.

"I supose you were fed off the fat of the land," said Mrs. Saunders. plaintively, as she set the plate of griddle cakes before Mr. Saunders the morning after his return home from Boston. "With Niece Margaret's means. they must have every-thing there is going."

"I presume to say there's no lack o' wherewithal," said her husband as he began to pour maple-sirup with a lavish hand, "but for breakfasts they had the worst lot o' truck ever I saw. 'Twasn't cooked, nor a thing done to it. I expect that hired girl o' theirs that I used to hear falling down-stairs about seven o'clock didn't want the trouble o' starting her fire in a hurry. But I tell ye when you've had a different kind o' straw filling served to ye for seven days running, griddle cakes come just at the right time. Don't take away that serrup jug yet awhile; it hasn't soaked in yet all it's a-going to. And set the doughnuts and the pie and the biscuits where I can keep an eye on 'em. but you can remove that glass o' water as far as you see fit. I've been starvin' healthy about as long as I can stan' it."—Youths Companion.

How She Saved Her Car Fare.

Cleopatra has left many sisters who can boast an infinite variety of nature. They are all things to all men. To the street car conductor they show a phase quite different from that displayed to any other class of men.

Two were on an Indiana avenue car the other day. When the conductor asked for the fare one of them handed him a $20 gold piece. Unable to make the change, he returned it to her.

When he was out of hearing she remarked triumphantly to her companion: "That is the third time I have flashed that this week. It has saved my car fare every time."—Chicago Record Hearld.

A Poser.

A certain laborer once asked a country clergyman to write a letter for him to a duke, from whom he wished to obtain aid.

"But you ought to go yourself and see his grace," said the clergyman.

"I would, sir," was the nervous answer, "but, you see, I don't like to speak to the duke. He may be too proud to listen to the likes of me. I can talk to you well enough, sir; there's nothing of the gentleman about you."—Detroit Free Press.

"Ma, I got $1.23 saved up in my bank—can I give that?"—Cleveland Leader.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

The President Signs Proclamation Giving Over a Million Acres of Utah Land to Home-Makers.

Another golden opportunity is offered the home-makers of America. It comes in the form of the opening for settlement of the lands of the Uintah Indian Reservation in Utah. This great reservation comprises 2,444,000 acres, of which 1,969,160 have been thrown open to settlement by the proclamation which President Roosevelt signed on July 15 of this year, and which takes effect on August 28.

The mode of procedure in making the allotment of these lands is similar to that adopted at the time of the opening of the Rosebud Indian reservation, in 1904, when the Chicago & North-Western Railway carried thousands of settlers into the trans-Missouri country to look for new homes. Settlers may make entry at the United States land offices at Grand Junction, Col., at Vernal, Utah, Price, Utah, or Provo, Utah.

Any citizen of the United States above the age of 21 years, or the head of a family, though younger, widows and deserted wives may register for a homestead. All applications must positively be made in person by registering at one of the U. S. land offices named, except in the case of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, who may register through an agent.

The Uintah Reservation lies in the north-central portion of the state of Utah, in Uintah and Wasatch counties. It extends from the Green River on the east to Heber, county seat of Wasatch county, on the west, and to the crest of the great Uintah Mountain Range on the north, comprising land rich in agricultural and mineral possibilities. A large portion of this tract of land is remarkably fertile. The climate is temperate, with almost perpetual sunshine. The altitude is from 4000 to 6000 feet above the sea. In addition to the agricultural lands, there are also large quantities of grazing land on which cattle, sheep and horses may be raised with great success. The lands are watered by the Duchesne and Uintah rivers.

The passenger from the east can best reach the Reservation via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line to Denver, which is a 36 hour ride from Chicago, and the D. & R. G. or Colorado Midland from Denver. There is daily service from Mack to Dragon.

Thousands of Women ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that it Really Does Make Sick Women Well

Thousands upon thousands of American women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished its widespread results for good?

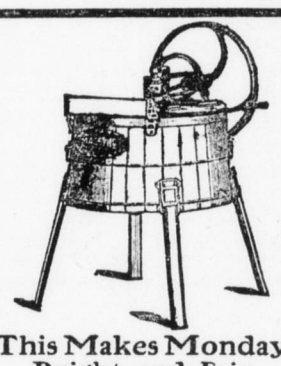
Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the uterine system, positively CURING disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.



This Makes Monday Bright and Fair

There is an old saying that man works from Sun to Sun but woman's work is never done. This idea was well enough perhaps, in the year 1714 when it was first made public, but if woman's work is never done now it is generally her own fault.

Take for instance, the matter of washing clothes—there is no longer any reason to dread "wash day" or to call it "blue Monday" unless you persist in scrubbing your clothes on a washboard over a steaming tub of hot, dirty water and follow all the rest of the old fashioned nonsense the same as they used to do the family washing when Noah was a small boy.

Of course if you do your work in that out-of-date kind of way, there won't be any rest for you here and not much comfort in life either, because you will always be busy.

Now, between ourselves, in the matter of washing clothes—what's the use of making a drudge of yourself when with a Majestic Rotary Washing Machine, which costs little and lasts long, you can almost make a pastime of what used to be the darkest day in the week.

CERTAINLY GRAND SAVING.

Unexpected Yet Eminently Satisfactory Result of a Trick on the Gas Meter.

Mr. Macpherson's gas bills were sore quarterly trials "Man, they're simply exor-r-bitant," he remarked one day to his friend MacTaggart.

But MacTaggart was a man of resource, and suggested a remedy.

"Ye see, it's this way," he said. "In the gas meter there are a lot o' wee wheels which revolve as the gas passes through, and so cause the amount consumed to be registered. Noo, every nicht when ye gang to bed and turn oot the licht, ye maun just blaw doon the pipe, and the wee wheels will revolve in the opposite direction and subtract from the amount of gas ye've been using. Man, ye'll find it a grand saving."

Mr. Macpherson practiced the remedy for exorbitant gas bills religiously during a month.

Then came the gas inspector on his usual round He examined the register, looked at the entry for the previous quarter, and then referred to his book. Again he looked from one to the other, and his air became one of the greatest perplexity.

"Whaur's the matter?" said Mr. Macpherson, who was standing by.

"Weel, Mr. Macpherson," said the gas inspector, "I dinna ken what's been happening to your gas meter, but I find the company owes ye exactly £1 15s 11d."

Gratitude Well Expressed.

Sault St. Marie, Mich., Aug 14th.—Mr. C. L. Smith, painter and decorator, whose home is at 309 Anne street, this city, makes the following statement:—

"I was laid up with some kind of pains. Some said it was Lumbago, others Sciatica, and others again Rheumatism. A few of my friends suggested that it was lead poison, but whatever it was it gave me a great deal of pain, in fact, almost completely crippled me. I had to use two canes to walk about, and even then it was a very painful task.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I began the treatment. After I had used the first box I was able to throw away one of the canes and was considerably improved. The second box straightened me up so that I could go about free from pain without any assistance, and very soon after I was completely cured, well and happy, without a pain or an ache. Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot in my case, and they will always have my greatest praise."

When a man sits at a girl's feet under a tree and plays a banjo to her, she thinks that is the way they would go on doing after they were married and had seven children.

UNDERSTOOD THE FEELING

But the Business Instinct Rose Supreme Over His Sense of Sentiment.

"Yes," said the artistic-looking man, "I spent three months in Rome, and I never tired of looking at the ruins of the Coliseum. I could have gone out there every day."

"Ruins, eh?" queried one of the other passengers in the train.

"Ruins, sir, with a history. When that Coliseum was erected Rome was in her glory. She was the greatest power on earth. She dominated all Europe. When Rome spoke kings trembled. When Rome sent forth her armies, nations crumbled. All these things came to me as I stood there and looked, and I felt, sir—I felt—"

"Yes, I can imagine how you felt."

"I stood there, and my mind went back hundreds of years, and I felt—"

"I've felt the same thing," broke in the other, "and you needn't try to describe it. Only last summer I went back to the home of my boyhood, and I stood there beside the old broken well where I used to drink from the bucket. Yes, I understand just how you felt; but when you got over it did you happen to ask if there was any market there for cotton hats? We've got a lot on hand, and if there's any chance of selling them over in Rome I'll ship 'em there."

HEART RIGHT

When He Quit Coffee.

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble. The reason is obvious.

This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing, and can be corrected, if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years, and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a practical invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings.

"I continued to drink Coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance, I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed. I found that leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether, and having been attracted by the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee, I began its use.

"The change in my condition was remarkable, and it was not long till I was completely cured. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and, most important of all, my heart steadied down and became normal, and on a second examination I was accepted by the life insurance Co. Quitting Coffee and using Postum worked the cure." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

SOUNDING WITHOUT LEAD.

Finding the Depth of the Sea Without Being in Touch with Its Bottom.

An ingenious apparatus for determining the depth of the sea without being in actual touch with its bottom, has recently been invented by a Norwegian engineer, Mr. H. Berggraf. The particulars in the following account, as well as the illustration, are taken from Elektroteknisk Tidskrift, Copenhagen.

As generally understood, it is a comparatively simple matter to measure the depth of the sea. All that is necessary is to fasten a weight to a line, drop it overboard, allow it to sink to the bottom, and measure the length of the line run out. And in fact all the measuring apparatus hitherto devised is based on this method of procedure, though in some cases the actual arrangement is more complicated to overcome the many difficulties encountered in practice.

The most useful arrangement would evidently be such that the depth of water under the vessel at any moment would be registered on a dial. An apparatus of this kind, besides being extremely convenient, would possess the highest scientific value for topographic measurement. Moreover, it would be invaluable as an aid to navigation, for while a single reading of the depth may apply to numberless points on the chart, a series of continuous readings can apply to but one given line.

The apparatus invented by Mr. Berggraf is designed for continuous recording of this kind. The underlying principle is one of acoustics, the propagation of a sound wave from the vessel to the bottom of the sea and back, and the measurement of the time required for this. Substantially the action is as follows: A sound wave is emitted by the closing of an electric circuit which at the same time starts the index moving across the dial. The index continues its movement until the sound wave is reflected and returns to the apparatus. When this occurs a second circuit is closed, which thereby stops the movement of the index. It is evident that the greater the distance to the reflecting surface, the longer will be the travel of the index and that its movement is directly proportional to the distance between the vessel and this sound-reflecting wall—in this case the bottom of the ocean. The apparatus may be so constructed that an alarm is sounded when the water shallows to a certain depth, and by this alarm the danger of grounding would be considerably decreased.

Instead of using a graduated dial, it is more convenient to have the record automatically marked upon a moving strip of paper. This is the arrangement in the "bathometer" as constructed by Mr. Berggraf. The illustration shows the details of the apparatus.

The disk, a, rotates relatively slowly in the direction of the arrow. The projection, c, at a given time comes into contact with d, completing the circuit, and causing the hammer, g, of the electro-magnet to strike the diaphragm, h. This projects sound waves against the bottom of the sea, whence they are thrown back to the vessel and transmitted through the diaphragm, i, to the microphone, k. In the circuit of the microphone is inserted an apparatus, l, designed on the same principle as a telephone. Because of the resonance tube, n, the mechanism responds only to the vibration to which it is attuned, and is insensitive to foreign sounds. As the sound emitted has a period corresponding to that of the resonance tube, the membrane, m, will vibrate strongly, closing the circuit, q, through the arm, o, and the screw, p. The electro-magnet, r, included in the circuit, q, then attracts the armature, s. To ascertain the depth of the sea, it is now necessary to measure the time that has elapsed between the transmitting and the receiving of the sound.

The shaft, 1, turns continuously while a gear wheel, 4, is free to move on the axle, 5. The wheel, 4, alternately acts as armature to the two electromagnets, 2 and 3. The direction of rotation of 4, and also of the spur wheel, 6, depends upon whether one or the other of the electro-magnets attracts 4 in its capacity as armature. Correspondingly the rod, 8, receives an advance or retrograde movement by means of the screw, 7.

At the same time that c comes into contact with d and starts the sound waves on their travels, one end, 9, of the double lever is actuated. The latter is free to move about 10. The contact roller, 11, will be shifted on to the contact plate, 12, thus closing the circuit, 13. The electromagnet, 2, then attracts the armature, 4, and the rod, 18, moves in the direction of the arrow, 14. On one end of the rod, 8, is mounted a recording pencil, 15, which inscribes a straight line on the paper strip, 16.

When the sound wave returns to the receiving apparatus, the electromagnet, r, will be energized and attract the armature, s. The contact roller, 11, will then be shifted on to the plate, 17, and the circuit, 18, closed.

MAKES PLANTS GROW.

Use of the Acetylene Light in Forcing Vegetation—Results of Experiments at Cornell.

The similarity between the quality of acetylene gaslight and sunlight, as evidenced by their effect on plant-growth, is strikingly shown by a series of experiments recently made at Cornell university. Says the Acetylene Journal, in a notice of these experiments:

"The close approximation of the light value of acetylene to that of the sun was years ago demonstrated by spectrum analysis. It has remained for later experimenters to test the rays of the gas on plant growth, for determining the degree of resemblance between the illuminant and the sun. Among investigations with various lights upon plant growth, those which have been made under the intelligent charge of Profs. Bailey and Craig, with their assistants at Cornell university, have been more painstaking along practical lines than any other recalled in that particular direction.

"Take the radish crop under sun by day with acetylene at night, and under sun by day and dark at night, and the conclusions are remarkable. It is seen that 37 radishes on the light or acetylene side of the curtain aggregated 136 grams, as against 38 radishes on the dark side, reaching but 61 grams, less than half.

"The behavior of peas, under which blooms and good-sized pods were present by the aid of acetylene, at a time when without this not even buds were apparent, is equally marked.

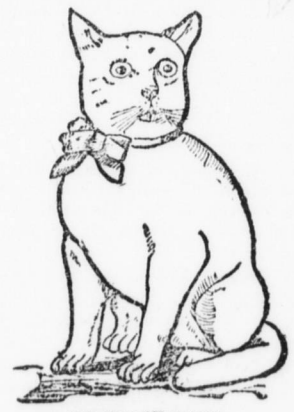
"Perhaps most interesting of all is the photograph, in which plants are figured that had never seen daylight.

"Altogether, these Cornell acetylene experiments are the most complete in their line yet given to the American public. Investigations to follow will be watched with much interest. Whether the discovery will have commercial value to florists and plant-growers, remains to be seen. When it is considered that the demand and price of flowers and other forced growths is the greatest in the period of shortest days about the holidays, it seems likely that enterprising plant-forcers will avail themselves of these results to conduct tests having a commercial bearing."

ILLUMINATED RAT SCARER.

Device Invented by One Man to Drive Away Rodents from Buildings.

A man who must have been a utilitarian of the highest order and who must also have been a dweller in an apartment house where economy of space is necessary has designed a household article that would seem to have some practical value. This device is very simple, being nothing but a round tin cylinder with a hole at either end; a series of perforations with rough edges on one side and a series of raised blades on the other. Its mission in the world is to serve as a fly-catcher by day, a rat trap at night, a nutmeg grater at dinner time and a potator parer for breakfast. This seems much better and more economical a rat trap than the device of another inventor who has patented an illuminated figure of a cat with which to scare rats and mice away from the premises.



TO SCARE RATS.

A Chemical Atom.

By the old-fashioned definition a chemical atom "is the smallest portion of matter capable of existing independently." But the chemists are now subdividing their atoms into "electrons"—700 to 100,000 electrons per atom—but they are "atoms" just the same. But chemistry always was a perplexing science.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Itching and Painful Sores Covered Head and Body—Cured in a Week by Cuticura.

"For fifteen years my scalp and forehead was one mass of scabs, and my body was covered with sores. Words cannot express how I suffered from the itching and pain. I tried many doctors and treatments, but could get no help, and had given up hope when a friend told me to get Cuticura. After bathing with Cuticura Soap and applying Cuticura Ointment for three days, my head was as clear as ever, and to my surprise and joy, one cake of soap and one box of ointment made a complete cure in one week. (Signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Washington St., Allegheny, Pa."

To Destroy Slugs on Roses.

After much experimenting with insect powders, sprays, etc., I have learned from a florist a very simple and effective means of keeping rose bushes free from slugs. Use plenty of strong Ivory Soap suds around the roots and on the foliage. This will prevent insects and cause the plants to be perfectly healthy.

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use

Lumber Grades.

A subject of increasing importance to every lumber producer and consumer is that of grades. That these grades should be uniform where practical is well recognized and many efforts to arrive at some general rules have been made. In view of these movements to standardize grades, the Forest Service has undertaken to bring together the specifications of the various lumber and manufacturers associations and to put them in such a form that they may be compared.

The subject of the study is not to devise a system of standard grades but to make, simply, such a compilation of the grades now in use as will be of service to lumber producers and consumers, though it is hoped that a great deal of information may be accumulated that will be of value in eventually preparing the way for a standard system.

It is planned to get the views of those concerned partly by interviews and largely by correspondence. A representative of the Forest Service will endeavor to visit the secretaries and members of grading bureaus of various associations and learn their views in regard to the practical workings of the various rules. A large number of mill men and manufacturers will be reached by correspondence and their views sought. It is especially desired to find the important points of difference in grades from the view points of both producer and consumer of lumber, and also to ascertain the chief difficulties in the way of devising and executing a system of standard grades.

The assistance of manufacturers and consumers of lumber is earnestly desired in this work. Suggestions concerning it will be gladly received by the Office of Forest Products, Forest Service, Washington, D. C.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

¶In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. ¶We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. ¶We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. ¶New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c.
